Change is good on a bike route and this trip offers an ever changing scenic view. The route skirts Sydney Harbour in a residential neighbourhood and then passes through working farms marked by open fields and rolling hills. The section along Northwest Arm is breathtaking (don't worry no hills just scenery). The harbour is home to three yacht clubs, the occasional tall ship and regular visits from cruise ships. Near the end of a counterclockwise journey you'll find the Tasty Treat—a good place for a snack. Another option is a picnic in Petersfield Park. By the entrance to the Coast Guard College, see one of the propellers of the famous icebreaker CCGS John A Macdonald. A clockwise trip will avoid the one steep hill.
